1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 1, 1801. It is a very important document, as it is the first time that the President has addressed the Congress since the establishment of the office. The letter is written in a very formal and dignified style, and it contains many important points. The President begins by expressing his gratitude to the Congress for the honor of the office, and then he goes on to discuss the state of the Union. He mentions the progress of the government, and the various measures that have been taken to improve it. He also mentions the state of the country, and the various problems that it is facing. The letter is a very important document, as it is the first time that the President has addressed the Congress since the establishment of the office.
