11. Answer: D—The author's main purpose is to inform the reader about the importance of the study. The author provides information about the study's findings, the methods used, and the implications of the results. The author also discusses the limitations of the study and suggests areas for future research.

Authorizing individuals to use the system is a complex task that requires a clear understanding of the system's capabilities and the needs of the users. This is often done through a process of user requirements analysis, which involves gathering information about the users' needs and the system's capabilities, and then using this information to develop a set of requirements that can be used to guide the development of the system.
