Problems of modernization and industrialization in Latin America. In: Latin American Perspectives, 1971, 8, pp. 10-20.

1. INTRODUCTION

In a recent article, the author has analysed some of the main problems of modernization and industrialization in Latin America, with special reference to the Latin American countries which have been most successful in their industrial development.

2. ECONOMIC PROBLEMS

Latin America's economic problems can be divided into two main groups. First, there is the problem of growth. This is a problem which is shared by all developing countries, but it is particularly acute in Latin America.

3. INDUSTRIALIZATION

Latin America's industrialization has been one of the most rapid in the world. It is also one of the most successful. This is due to the fact that Latin America has a large number of factors which favour industrialization.

4. PROBLEMS OF MODERNIZATION

A second group of problems is related to industrialization, which is a problem common to all developing countries.

5. CONCLUSION

Latin America's industrialization has been one of the most rapid in the world. It is also one of the most successful. This is due to the fact that Latin America has a large number of factors which favour industrialization.
