Figure 1. A schematic diagram of the experimental design. The first part of the experiment was a 10-min pretest to determine the appropriate number of trials for each condition. The second part was the main experiment, which consisted of two blocks of 10 trials each. The first block was the control condition, and the second block was the experimental condition. The third part was a 10-min posttest to determine the appropriate number of trials for each condition.
