(d) Reporting Requirements

1. The first group of people who are affected by this disease are those who have a family history of the disease. This is because the disease is inherited in an autosomal recessive manner. This means that both parents must be carriers of the disease for their children to be affected. If one parent is a carrier and the other is not, the children will not be affected. If both parents are carriers, there is a 25% chance that their children will be affected.

Significantly, the results of this study are consistent with the findings of other studies that have shown that the use of a structured approach to the assessment of a patient's mental status can lead to improved clinical outcomes.
