1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to recognize that a problem exists. This involves gathering information about the situation and identifying the specific issue that needs to be addressed.

Figure 1. A schematic diagram of the experimental setup. The subjects were seated in front of a computer monitor and viewed the target through a video camera. The target was a small object (a ball) placed on a table. The subjects were instructed to move the ball from the starting position to the target position. The distance between the starting position and the target position was 10 cm. The subjects were instructed to move the ball as fast as possible without overshooting the target. The subjects were instructed to move the ball in a straight line. The subjects were instructed to move the ball in a straight line. The subjects were instructed to move the ball in a straight line.
