

ACQUISITION OF SECOND LANGUAGE

Acquisition of the language

1. The acquisition of the second language is a process which involves the learner's ability to learn the second language in a foreign language environment. The learner's ability to learn the second language is a process which involves the learner's ability to learn the second language in a foreign language environment.

Acquisition of the language

2. The learner's ability to learn the second language is a process which involves the learner's ability to learn the second language in a foreign language environment. The learner's ability to learn the second language is a process which involves the learner's ability to learn the second language in a foreign language environment.

Acquisition of the language

3. The learner's ability to learn the second language is a process which involves the learner's ability to learn the second language in a foreign language environment. The learner's ability to learn the second language is a process which involves the learner's ability to learn the second language in a foreign language environment.

Acquisition of the language

Acquisition of the language

Acquisition of the language

Acquisition of the language