

GENERAL AGREEMENT ON TRADES

1994-1995

1994-1995

The General Agreement on Trade in Goods (GATT) is a multilateral treaty that governs international trade in goods. It was signed in 1947 and entered into force in 1948. The GATT is one of the main pillars of the World Trade Organization (WTO), which was established in 1995. The GATT aims to reduce trade barriers and promote free trade between member countries. It covers a wide range of issues, including tariff reductions, trade dispute resolution, and trade policy coordination.

1. The General Agreement on Trade in Goods (GATT) is a multilateral treaty that governs international trade in goods.
2. It was signed in 1947 and entered into force in 1948.
3. The GATT is one of the main pillars of the World Trade Organization (WTO), which was established in 1995.

The GATT is a multilateral treaty that governs international trade in goods. It was signed in 1947 and entered into force in 1948. The GATT is one of the main pillars of the World Trade Organization (WTO), which was established in 1995. The GATT aims to reduce trade barriers and promote free trade between member countries. It covers a wide range of issues, including tariff reductions, trade dispute resolution, and trade policy coordination.

The GATT is a multilateral treaty that governs international trade in goods. It was signed in 1947 and entered into force in 1948. The GATT is one of the main pillars of the World Trade Organization (WTO), which was established in 1995. The GATT aims to reduce trade barriers and promote free trade between member countries. It covers a wide range of issues, including tariff reductions, trade dispute resolution, and trade policy coordination.

1994-1995

1994-1995