RESEARCH OBJECTIVE	RESEARCH DESIGN	RESEARCH METHODS	RESEARCH RESULTS	RESEARCH CONCLUSIONS
1. To determine the effect of the independent variable on the dependent variable.	Experimental design	Random assignment, control group, experimental group, manipulation of the independent variable, measurement of the dependent variable.	Significant differences between the control and experimental groups.	The independent variable has a significant effect on the dependent variable.
2. To determine the relationship between the independent variable and the dependent variable.	Correlational design	Measurement of the independent variable, measurement of the dependent variable.	Significant correlation between the independent variable and the dependent variable.	The independent variable is significantly related to the dependent variable.
3. To determine the effect of the independent variable on the dependent variable, while controlling for the effect of the confounding variable.	Quasi-experimental design	Random assignment, control group, experimental group, manipulation of the independent variable, measurement of the dependent variable.	Significant differences between the control and experimental groups.	The independent variable has a significant effect on the dependent variable, while controlling for the effect of the confounding variable.
