17. Allegory of the Pilgrims by William Holman Hunt, 1851. This painting depicts a group of pilgrims on their journey to the Holy Land, with a central figure representing the Virgin Mary. The scene is set in a desert landscape, and the pilgrims are shown in various states of distress and exhaustion. The painting is a classic example of the Pre-Raphaelite style, with its detailed depiction of the figures and the use of a rich, warm color palette.
